

November 2022 Worship Services

November Worship Theme: Justice

November Quote:

“Never forget that justice is what love looks like in public.” - Cornel West

November 6: “In These Times”

A service of celebration, grounding and affirming our Unitarian Universalist values. Remembering what sustains us is crucial as we approach elections and uncertain times continue, whatever the outcomes. Join us as we welcome our newest members, with Reverend Rebecca preaching and Danny Harrington on saxophone.

November 13: “Lessons for Future Ancestors”

Reverend Rebecca and Matt Meyer will co-lead this special service, with Matt sharing his newest children’s book and exceptional drumming. What does it mean to be successful in this life? Let’s explore this together.

November 13: Justice Sunday (follows worship)

Join us for our monthly gatherings of fellowship followed by exploration of our congregational commitments to social justice. Soup and salad lunch at noon followed by programming exploring the issue of Afghan resettlement initiatives. We will learn what is going on in the state and in our city, as well as answer your questions in preparation for our Special Congregational Meeting on December 4, when we will vote to extend the stay for the Mirzayee Family in Parish Hall until June 2024, if necessary.

November 20: Annual North Shore UU Thanksgiving Service (YouTube only)

Don’t miss this special service where we come together with area Unitarian Universalist congregations to celebrate Thanksgiving. This year’s theme is “The Peace of Wild Things” and includes music by a shared choir and reflections from different clergy. You are invited to watch this service from the comfort of your home or at FRS in the Lower Meetinghouse Main Room.

November 27: “Allyship as a Demonstration of Faith and Justice”

This service is created and led by members of our Welcoming Committee. We are proud to announce our recertification of being an inclusive and welcoming congregation for LGBTQ+ and celebrate this commitment together. Members will share their experiences and understanding of what it looks like and means to be an ally in this critical work.
